

Thomas Eakins
Head of the Schuylkill Regatta

October 29, 1983

Philadelphia

sponsored by University Barge Club and The Philadelphia Inquirer

Thomas Eakins (1844 — 1916)

It was 109 years ago, in 1874 that Thomas Eakins completed his series of five paintings and numerous sketches and studies of rowing and sculling on the Schuylkill River. While his world wide reputation as one of America's greatest painters is based primarily on his incisive and revealing portraits of upper middle class Philadelphians and on two monumental medical paintings — "The Gross Clinic" and "The Agnew Clinic" — to oarsmen and to all admirers of the placid beauty of the Schuylkill River as it winds through Fairmount Park, it is the rowing pictures that are most appealing.

Eakins himself was a superb oarsman. In fact, at one time he was urged to become a professional oarsman. (In the late nineteenth century there was considerable betting on races on the river and strong oarsmen were much in demand.) Eakins declined the offer and instead concentrated on painting.

THE THOMAS EAKINS HEAD OF THE SCHUYLKILL REGATTA

This regatta was organized first in 1971 as The Head of the Schuylkill by the University Barge Club, one of the oldest clubs along Boathouse Row. The name was expanded to the The Thomas Eakins Head of the Schuylkill Regatta in 1975 to honor the famous Philadelphia painter who was himself a skilled oarsman.

Like other autumn "Head" regattas, this is a race against time, with each boat in a given event leaving the starting line at ten-second intervals. Each boat is assigned a plainly-visible bow number (listed in this program) and the elapsed time of each contestant is recorded electronically. Results are posted on a board near the finish line as soon after each event as possible.

The winning boat in each event is awarded a sterling silver Thomas Eakins medal. The cost of fifteen of the medals has been generously underwritten by the Philadelphia Inquirer, while the cost of the other five is underwritten by The University Barge Club. Proceeds from the purchase of the medals benefit the Restoration Fund of the Thomas Eakins House, 1729 Mt. Vernon Street, Philadelphia.

A team trophy, known as The Philadelphia Inquirer Trophy and presented by the newspaper, is awarded to the club, college or school amassing the greatest number of points in the regatta.

Annually The Robert C. Lea, Jr. Trophy is awarded to the winner of the Championship Singles Event. Mr. Lea is a former president of the University Barge Club and is an active oarsman.

The Eakins medal, considered a work of art in its own right, was created by Leonard Baskin, a distinguished American sculptor now living in England. Copies of it are in the collections of many major art museums in the United States, as well as in numerous private collections.

The medal was struck by The Franklin Mint, a widely-known local firm. The entire edition of 1,000 medals was presented to the Eakins House Restoration Fund as a contribution from the Mint and then the dies for the medal were destroyed so that no more can be purchased. Each medal is individually numbered and is housed in a handsome lined case.

RULES FOR COMPETITORS

START

Each entrant will be responsible for arriving at the starting line five minutes prior to his scheduled starting time. Boats leaving from Boathouse Row proceed upstream on the West Bank and remain well out of the racing lane and finish line. Boats leaving from the Canoe Club will cross to the West Bank below Strawberry Mansion Bridge and proceed upstream remaining well clear of the racing lanes and starting line. Boats arriving more than thirty seconds after the last entrant has started will not be allowed to row. Boats leaving from Boathouse Row shall allow thirty minutes to row to the starting line; from the Canoe Club, ten minutes. The start will be in sequence of bow markers.

PASSING RULE

Any boat being overtaken must move toward the West Bank (starboard side) in order to allow the overtaking boat to pass clear on his port side. He must maneuver well in advance so as not to "wash" the overtaking boat. The overtaking boat must move toward the East Bank (port side) so as to pass well clear and once ahead, endeavor not to "wash" the overtaken crew.

COURSE

The course begins just above the 2,000 meter starting line and passes through Strawberry Mansion Bridge under the arch marked lanes "1, 2 and 3." It continues downstream to Columbia Railroad Bridge, leaving Peter's Island to starboard and passes under the second arch from the East Bank. From there it remains on the east side of the river to the Girard Avenue Bridges, passing through the second arches from the East Bank and then on to the finish line at the Sedgeley Club. Any crew not passing through these checkpoints will be penalized 60 seconds per violation.

FINISH

Once across the line, crews must immediately clear the finish areas and return to their launch site for their bow marker to be retrieved. A $5.00 charge will be assessed for each bow marker not returned. Times and results may be checked at the University Barge Club at the presentation of awards.

COVER: Thomas Eakins, "John Biglin in a Single Scull" (Yale University Art Gallery, Whitney Collections of Sporting Art, given in memory of Harry Payne Whitney

The Philadelphia Inquirer Cup is presented to the winner of the 1982 Thomas Eakins Head of the Schuylkill Regatta, Ted Nash, coach of the University of Pennsylvania crew, by William Broom (left), The Inquirer's vice president for public affairs.

The Inquirer's interest in regattas dates back to the early part of the century. At that time, The Inquirer Regatta for sailboats and motorcraft was a major event off the Atlantic coast.

In fact, The Inquirer Cup to be presented at today's regatta is the same one presented at The Inquirer Regatta of 1911.
